PLANS ANOTHER BIG REP. RALLY

Chairman Shields Hopes to Secure National Speaker

Chairman R. H. Shields of the Republican county committee, is planning another big rally in the copper country before election day either on Saturday or Monday night and possibly on both nights. The effectiveness of the work done here by Senator Townsend last Tuesday was so evident in the sentiment of the voters that Mr. Shields decided to press the campaign right up to election night instead of letting the matter stand as the two other parties are doing and he at once wired the state central committee asking for another speaker of national reputation. He soon found that it would be impossible to secure a suitable man from the state committee and he at once got into communication with the national committee and asked them for a speaker.

Nothing has yet been heard from the national committee however and Mr. Shields feels that this is a good sign that he will get the man he wants. Two more big rallies, one in Chalmers and the other in either Houghton or Hancock would be just about the proper thing and Mr. Shields will use all his influence to secure the speakers if it is possible to get them.

Townsend is Popular. From the comment that has been passed about Senator Townsend since his appearance in Hancock last Tuesday, it is evident that the junior senator from Michigan has lost none of his former popularity in this district. The suggestion has been advanced in several quarters that Mr. Townsend would be a suitable candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency in 1916 and this suggestion is receiving favorable comment from all sides.

Senator Townsend's speech here stamped him as being of presidential caliber in the opinion of many. The speech has been the main topic of conversation on the streets the past two days and it is evident that it will have a material influence on the voting next Tuesday.

M. C. M. HOCKEY PLANS.

College Students Plan to Put Seven On Ice This Winter.

The M. C. M. College students are already preparing for a hockey team this winter and according to the present plans such a team will be organized as soon as the weather becomes cold enough. There is plenty of good material at the college for a strong team and it is thought that a trip could be taken during the Christmas vacation and games arranged with some outside teams. Last year the team was successfully organized, but owing to the pressure of other matters, the trip planned for the holidays was abandoned.

Among the players who would be available for such a team are Leo Hines, Eddie Bassett, Walter Exley, John Chynoweth, Russell Wortley, Adolph Wiesmiller and a host of others who would be willing to try for places on the team. Chynoweth and Exley would make an excellent defense pair, leaving Hines, Bassett, Wiesmiller and Wortley for the forward line and only a goal tender required to make up a strong seven.

DUE TO HIGHER EDUCATION?

Bryn Mawr Authorities Obtain Statistics on Race Suicide.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 31.—The authorities at Bryn Mawr, the exclusive college for women, recently completed a statistical table from answers received from graduates who took the degree of bachelor of arts and later married. The table tends to show the higher education of women leads to rapid race suicide.

The statistics include all married graduates up to January 1, 1911, and take in the classes from 1890 to 1910, inclusive. In the twenty-one years 206 of the graduates taking the bachelor of arts degree married, and of these 201 answered the questions asked by the college. Of these 122 had children, but there is an alarmingly low average number in each family. The high point was reached in 1893 and 1898, when the children averaged four to the family of graduates. From this fair average the percentage has dropped, until in 1910, the average is but three-tenths of a child to the family.

In twenty-one years the graduates of Bryn Mawr have been the mothers of 504 children, of which 288 were boys and 216 girls. Of these twenty-six have died, thirteen boys and three girls.

that two of his partners were dead and another ill, so that the burden of the business devolved on him.

Mr. McNally is a polished gentleman and has always associated with the plain people, claiming that the average man was always without affection and therefore more natural. Mr. McNally has got the reputation of never turning an unfortunate brother from his office because he lacked the necessary means for defense. He is naturally the friend of humanity and has always given his time and his money and his talent to uphold a down-trodden brother. He never inquires into a man's nationality or his religion but goes upon the theory that it is man's duty to help all crying on the mighty ship of life.
